Home education is a long-established educational option which is known and respected in the UK and in many other countries as well. Parents may decide to teach their children at home from the beginning or they may withdraw them from school at any stage. Children may learn at home in a variety of different ways, and young people of all ages are able to enjoy many opportunities for social contact and friendship.

Home Education Advisory Service is a national organisation which provides information, advice and support for home educating families. Interest in home education is increasing and HEAS recognises that reliable information should be available for everyone. Subscription to HEAS is open to home educating families and also to other interested individuals and groups who support diversity in education.

Subscription to HEAS is £16.00 annually; additional donations are welcomed! HEAS subscribers receive:

- ✓ accessible from our website, the HEAS Subscribers Area with news and information about all aspects of home education, plus reviews, places to visit and much more
- ✓ for home educators, a HEAS registration card giving free/reduced rates of admission to some sites of interest, educational discounts on resources and materials
- ✓ access to the Advice Line for curriculum advice and help in the event of any problems
